

0294.01.0227

The Roman Auditorium in the City of Nablus, 1999's

Found among the archive of Ibrahim al-Fanny, this colour photograph features The Roman Auditorium in the city of Nablus, the stones featured in this photograph showcase the inscription the Romans dug of names of people who come from the upper class and the ruling communities. The Roman Auditorium was explored in 1980, and its history of construction dates to 201-300 Century AD.

